Q. 5 Prayer is not means of attaining an objective, nor does he believe to be helpful in achieving any purpose. He believes that a person who prays for the sole purpose of attaining an objective is grossly mistaken, because something which has been predetermined does not need any prayers; and crying and beseeching is of no avail when something has not been preordained. About which topic is this point?

A. 1- Prayer 2- Believe 3- Fate

Q 6: The world underwent a revolution which no eye had seen before and no ear had heard of. Do you know how all this came about? It was the supplications during dark nights of one who had lost himself in God which caused a revolution in the world, and showed such wonders as could never have been expected from that Unlettered and helpless one. In which land did this strange event occur?

A. 1- Iraq 2-Arab 3- Syria

Q.7: So, as long as a prayer is not inspired by full spirituality and a close connection is not established between the supplicant and the person on whose behalf the supplication is made, there is little hope that such a prayer will be accepted unless there is a to accept the prayer all these conditions remain unfulfilled and the faculties remain devoid of complete attention. Put suitable word in the blank.

A. 1- Divine will 2- Crying 3- Attention

Q.8: The Holy Qur'an is not like other books that are dependent upon extraneous sources for the proof or disclosure of their verities. The Holy Qur'an is like a perfectly balanced structure, the whole dynamics of which are distributed by the displacement of a single block. The Holy Qur'an possesses no verity that is not supported by at least ten or twenty testimonies contained within itself. So, when we interpret a verse of the Holy Qur'an in a certain way, we should try to find out whether or not there are other testimonies present in the Holy Qur'an which support this interpretation.

A. This is the criterion of....

1-Translation 2- Commentary 3- Revelation
